Antica Tenuta Palombo

The estate at Atina, Valle di Comino

Antica Tenuta Palombo, led by Dr Norberto Mastrantoni, is based in Atina, Valle di Comino, where tradition, landscape and innovation come together. The estate has its origins in Cantina Palombo, founded by Giovanni Palombo in 1980, and today continues to represent one of the most distinctive voices of southern Lazio.

The Valle di Comino is known for its calcareous marl soils and favourable viticultural conditions. This unique setting has long supported the cultivation of Cabernet, Merlot and Sauvignon Blanc, while also providing the foundation for the recovery of native local varieties such as Maturano, Lecinaro and Capolongo.

In recent years, Antica Tenuta Palombo has gained wider recognition for its work in preserving and elevating the wines of Atina and the Frusinate area. Its Maturano received a Gold Medal at the Concours Mondial de Bruxelles, highlighting the potential of this historic local white variety. The estate has also been featured in a dedicated Gambero Rosso Academy masterclass, bringing further attention to the territory, its native grapes and its modern winemaking direction.

In 2026, Antica Tenuta Palombo received the Riconoscimento al Merito from the Comitato del Leone d'Oro di Venezia, an acknowledgement given to businesses and individuals recognised for their contribution to Italy's economic, cultural and social development. This recognition reflects not only the quality of the wines, but also the estate's role in promoting the identity and future of Lazio wine.

Today, the modernised winery, managed by winemakers Roberto Mazzer and Pierpaolo Pirone, produces a focused range of wines that balance heritage with contemporary precision. The estate also includes a gourmet restaurant and the contemporary art museum La Collina Sonora, reinforcing its connection between wine, culture and place.

Antica Tenuta Palombo's wines have been carefully selected for Banca di Roma to showcase the character, ambition and growing recognition of Lazio's winemaking heritage.
